Economical Regents.

The Board of Regents of the State University met in regular session at San Francisco yesterday.

The joint committee on internal administration and finance advised the following deductions of the general budget:

Fuel, $500; equipment, $500; repairs, $500; college celebrations, $250; agriculture, $1000; office and lecturing expenses, $2000; civil engineering, $750; mechanical engineering, $2000; Lick Observatory, $500; mineralogy, $250; library, $1500; museum, $250; university site, $1500; grading and macadamizing, $1479 22; astronomy, $700; painting buildings, $2000; reservoir, $2000.

In the department budget reductions were made in the farmers' institute of $500 and labor in the botanical garden of $100. The total reduction proposed was $17,979.22. The report was unanimously adopted.

The committee recommended that $300 be appropriated for the department of mechanical arts. Adopted. It further recommended that the vote making physical culture compulsory be reconsidered. Adopted.

Dr. R. Beverley Cole made a report in which he stated that the committee on sites for the new buildings in San Francisco had examined a large number and had found the most of them undesirable. Those that they considered, they did not care to make public. The committee also wanted granite from Folsom at the cost of the tools and machinery for getting it out. The Board voted to join with the committee in the request to the proper authorities.

A. A. d'Ancona asked that a sub-committee be appointed to confer with the committee to which was assigned the duty of devising means by which a sufficient sum might be obtained for purchasing the necessary land for the proper site for the buildings.

The report of the expert accountant John J. Kerr, verified the reports of the secretary and treasurer for the past month.

Professor Kellogg moved that Prof. Ritter be engaged as instructor in the department of biology at $300 per annum, and the motion was carried.

Professor Forey was then elected to succeed Prof. Holmes who has resigned.

Samuel P. Avery presented a portrait of his brother Benjamin Avery to the University and his gift was accepted.

Professor George Davidson's tender of a topographical chart of the Pacific Coast was accepted.

A communication from J. J. Rivers was read asking for an extension of time to make certain changes in the museum, and the request was granted. President Kellogg reported that the committee on equalization recommended the reduction of salaries of the following instructors in the department of mines: E. A. Hersam from $1300 to $1250, E. H. Simonds, $1200 to $1000; O. Schober, $1200 to $1000, and an increase of salaries in the civil engineering department as follows: L. E. Hunt, $840 to $960; W. W. Foggy, $500 to $856, and a student assistant to $200.

A resolution authorizing the withdrawal of $500, formerly the property of the State Viticultural Commission and donated by that commission to the university, from the State treasury was adopted.

A recommendation by the finance committee that Levi Radcliffe, the State Treasurer, be requested to pay the yearly appropriation of the university on June 30, was adopted.

Trial Jurors.

OAKLAND, July 23.—The following trial jurors have been accepted for the term: J. M. Appar, P. Brailey, Ed. Crinnan, J. C. Brown, Thomas Bridges, James Billis, J. H. Chipman, Daniel Chisholm, W. F. Delaney, Levi Flint, M. J. Finnigan, C. A. Fawcett, G. F. Gilson, J. C. Gruen, J. J. Haines, Henry Hompel, Chas. Jacobs, J. R. Knowland, R. S. Leckie, W. Leonard, T. W. Le Balister, W. S. Lewis, William McDonald, J. M. Mendenhall, Frank V. Machado, J. M. Musser, A. L. McPherson, Patrick O'Brien, Nelson Provost, John Rohan, Sol D. Rodgers, J. E. Saulpaugh, A. Sproul, Samuel Tate Jr., C. H. Trimmings, and Joseph Wolfom.

Mrs. Scott Again.

The Chicago News prints an interview with a Mrs. H. R. Woodall of that city. Mrs. Woodall is a sister of Mrs. Eliza Scott of Oakland, who tried to starve herself to death, who was sent to Ukiah as insane, and who had $500 sewed in her dress, which the asylum authorities found when they examined her.

Mrs. Woodall says her sister had $1000 when she left Chicago. At that time she left her daughter Bertie, aged 18, with Mrs. Woodall. Bertie has received the following letter, which makes the sister of Mrs. Scott anxious:

Dear Bertie: It seems strange to me to write to you and it must seem also to you. But your mother is at our hotel and she told me to write to you and ask you if you would like to come out to California. Bertie, I am glad to say I am dead stuck on you and never saw you before, but your picture that your mother showed me when you were young. She wants you to send me out one of your latest, and one for me, Bertie. We are always talking about you, and now your mother calls me "Bertie." Your mother and I are always smiling at each other and then she will say: "Bertie, I am going to give you my daughter." Bertie, I am the same age you are and I hope you will write me a love letter back and sealed with a kiss, as this one is. Well, it is getting late, Bertie, and I will close my letter (with a sealed kiss).

ROBERT JOHNSON,

Pullman Hotel, West Oakland, Cal.

Robert Johnson is a young man of the sentimental age of 18. He was seen last evening and said that Mrs. Scott took quite a liking to him and often said: "I am going to give my Bertie to you." He said he wrote the letter at Mrs. Scott's instigation adding a few words of love on his own account. He was greatly embarrassed to see his letter in print, and said that Bertie wrote him an equally tender missive, in which he inclosed her picture.

West Berkeley Progressive Club.

It was after the usual hour last evening when the members of the club assembled to talk over matters appertaining to the welfare of the town generally and the West End particularly. A discussion which came up between the president and a reporter on the beauties of Socialism bid fair at one time to interfere with other matters of fully as great immediate importance.

The business upon which the members were intended to debate upon last evening was of that kind which would require the action of the Board of Trustees. As that body will not meet again until after the next regular meeting of the club it was thought best not to take any action until next Tuesday night, when the West End property owners will have had sufficient time to thoroughly understand what it is best to ask of the Trustees to do.

Then the matter of making an attempt to get the Chicago syndicate to locate their bicycle factory in West Berkeley was called up. Some animated discussion followed, which brought a conclusion that it was for the interest of the town for the club to take some action about it. Accordingly the members thought that the best thing to do first was to correspond with the Manufacturers' and Producers' Association at San Francisco, who apparently have it in charge for the Eastern people, and find out just about what the syndicate wanted and then make an effort to fill the bill. It was so ordered, and this business will also be brought before the meeting to be held next Tuesday evening. Two new members signed the roll. On motion adjourned.

Business Improving.

The Judson Manufacturing Company at Emeryville has lately been filling orders for Central and South America. The company has a nail plant besides general iron and machine works. In the nail department fifteen of the latest improved machines have been ordered, which will enable the company to turn out every kind of a nail from a carpet tack to a railroad spike. They have lately received a large order for spikes for the San Joaquin Valley railroad. The force of employes has been increased and the company's prosperity means a great deal for North Oakland.

To Give More Light.

The Southern Pacific Company inaugurated an improvement in its Oakland local train service last night by placing gas in the cars. For years the people of Oakland have been compelled to ride in poorly lighted and ill-ventilated cars. The new deal of well-lighted and well-ventilated cars at night will be well received by the traveling public. The improvements have been made under the supervision of Master Car Repairer W. B. Ludlow, who has been at work on the matter for nearly a year. Each local car is equipped with a tank that will hold gas enough for a couple of days. The gas will be manufactured at the West Oakland yards, and will be conveyed to the mole by pipes. The system seems to work all right. If it is a success it will also be put into operation on the Alameda and Berkeley lines.

By order of the Treasury Department the United States flag must be hoisted over all public buildings under the control of the department on February 22, May 30 and July 4 from sunrise to sunset except when stormy weather prevails. When either day falls on Sunday the flag will be displayed on the day locally observed. On May 30 the flag should be placed at half staff.

The Newspapers Get Badly Fooled.

How Business Is Improving—Real Estate Transfers and Other Interesting News.

F. S. Rawson.

A malignant attempt has been made by someone who was able to get some of the press to assist to oust F. S. Rawson from the position of deputy-marshal of the town of Berkeley. The ground used for this purpose is that Mr. Rawson was not a citizen of the town, within the boundaries prescribed by the new charter. According to this document any one eligible to any position either by election or appointment "shall have resided within the boundaries of the town for three years preceding the date of such election or appointment."

Mr. Rawson has lived in the town of Berkeley since 1882. At times he has been called out of town both on business and pleasure but never at any time has he made any other place his home or voted anywhere else except in Berkeley. His postoffice address has always been here and he has always cast his vote here when in town.

All of this was well known to the party or parties who made the accusation. It is a fact that would have only taken five minutes to have found out before rushing it into print. There is doubt but the Dispatch was imposed upon by the party who threatened that if Rawson did not do certain things within a certain time his salary would be cut off. So much for malignant spite.

Serious Accident.

This morning Charlie, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Vera, who live on Allston way, near the Narrow Gauge railroad, was playing on the track when he slipped and fell striking on the rails with his head causing a large gash to be cut in the side from which the blood flowed in a stream. His mother, whose attention was called to the boy, bandaged up the wound as best she could and stopped the flow of blood after which she took him to a physician who dressed the wound and pronounced it quite serious although not necessarily fatal, if the boy received the proper care and blood poisoning did not set in.

Anybody that drinks tea at all wants that of good quality and at a very reasonable rate. The tea store at Dwight way, known as the Berkeley Tea Store, is just the place to get what you want. Not only tea but coffee can be had there. Go there and see what you can do and you will find that there is no necessity of going out of town to purchase anything in that line of goods.

Wade Y. Schibata of San Francisco has taken out a patent for a telephone exchange.

Got Fooled.

It was an April fool joke and all of the out of town papers fell right into it. Reference is made to a deed purported to have been found by a Berkeley expressman. It was dated April 1, 1873. Not one of the smart newspapers gave it a thought. Now that very man of the express is laughing at somebody's expense. Almost anyone would have thought, but then only a few people think, that a document of this kind, made in New Jersey and brought to the Pacific Coast, to be cut away in an ash barrel and at the same time to be in a good state of preservation. The idea is ridiculous. No people so gullible as newspaper men sometimes.

CONVICT LABOR.

Convict labor seems to be decidedly against Alameda county and threatens to deprive it of a million and a quarter dollars capital, besides throwing over 1000 men out of employment. The first thing to effect this county was the manufacture at San Quentin of jute bags. This put a quietus upon the Oakland jute mills, with a payroll of $13,000 per month, and a plant worth $300,000. Following this came the Wilson tariff which almost crippled the Oakland Cotton mills; and now the final blow is to be struck by the prison authorities, who have decided to go into the business of making cotton rope and twine. The Oakland Cotton mills gave employment to several hundred people, and their plant is worth $400,000. The managers who have been thus driven out of business by convict labor, have announced their intention of removing their plant and business to Japan.

The latest blow struck at Alameda county by convict labor is the furnishing of crushed rock from the quarries at Folsom, to be used for street work throughout the State.

This means a blow at no less than ten quarries in this county that gives employment to nearly 500 men. The machinery in use for quarrying rock is estimated as being worth, at the lowest calculation, $500,000. Heretofore all the towns north of Oakland have been getting their rock from the Alameda county quarries but now this is to be stopped as the State is erecting crushing machines at Folsom, which are to be run by convict labor, without cost to contractors, and this rock is to be laid down in Sacramento and other towns for 50 cents per ton and quite a number of the towns have availed themselves of this low price and will get their rock from Folsom, where it is quarried by convict labor. Of course this means the loss of thousands of dollars to Alameda county and the discharge of a large number of laboring men. It is also stated that by an arrangement that has been made by the Railroad Company the rock will be laid down in Oakland for 75 cents per ton. This will cut off all the hopes of the quarrymen from furnishing rock for Oakland, Berkeley and Alameda, and in consequence all of the quarries will have to close down. In the closing down of all these quarries, caused by convict labor, Berkeley will also suffer, as J. J. Dunn has a large quarry near La Loma Park, which constantly gives employment to a large number of men at good wages, all of which is earned by residents of Berkeley and all of which is spent among the business men of Berkeley.

ALL BOSH.

Our Dwight way contemporary had a long sensational article in its columns last evening in reference to Deputy Marshal Fred Rawson, in reference to his eligibility to hold his office owing to the fact that the new charter demanded that any elected or appointed officer of the town of Berkeley shall have been a resident of the town for three years prior to his election or appointment.

The Despatch does not state who it is that is after the scalp of Mr. Rawson, hence we surmise that the article was written just in the shape of a sensation in order to fill up. When Mr. Rawson was first appointed there was one or two that sprung this question upon him knowing that he had been away from town for some time but they soon found that they were wrong, and nothing more has been heard of the question until it was resurrected by the Despatch.

In the first place Mr. Rawson has been a resident of Berkeley for fourteen years, and has always made it his home, even if away for a time. When he has been absent from Berkeley, it is when he has been seeking employment to enable him to support his family, who have always resided in Berkeley. This should effectually settle the eligibility of Mr. Rawson for the position he holds. If this were not the case how could Messrs. Cripps or Martin, or Messrs. Frame or Norton hold office. None of these gentlemen had resided in Berkeley for three years before their election, as Lorin was not a part of Berkeley three years prior to the last election.

NOT RELIABLE.

The San Francisco Examiner in its issue of this morning heads an article in one of its columns, "Berkeley Going Dry," "Working night and day so as to avoid a water famine." This article is misleading and unjust not only to the Alameda Water Company but to the town of Berkeley, as it will have a tendency to keep people who intend coming to Berkeley, away. There is but one thing true in the Examiner article and that is that the Alameda Water Company is driving a tunnel in which work is prosecuted night and day. This work was commenced last summer and kept up until winter when the roads became impassable for teams with heavy timbers for timbering. The company has been getting plenty of water from the tunnel ever since the first one hundred feet of tunnel was run, and instead of getting enough water to supply the workmen with drinking water, there is a stream coming out of there and emptying into the tank house that would drown the Examiner correspondent.

The Alameda Water Company have got plenty of water to supply the town of Berkeley with and there is no danger of a water famine. In fact the company are now laying three or four miles of new pipes in South Berkeley, at a great deal of expense, which they would not do if there was any danger of a water famine.

It is true that the company is constantly developing water, but the population of the town is constantly increasing and miles of new streets are being macadamized, which takes large quantities of water to sprinkle, and the Water Company keeps on developing in order to keep pace with the town.

Daedalus with wings of wax soared to the sun. The heat melted the wings and the flyer fell into the sea and was drowned. The East Berkeley Advocate undertook to write up English politics through correspondence. It is a case of another myth that's gone to the bottom of the sea.

Professor Thomas, who for two years was the principal of the San Bernardino High School, and who has been taking a summer course at the University, left this morning for Petaluma, where he will take charge of the High School at that place.

FRENCH BARBARITY AT YAPA.

Thousands of Prisoners Were Shot Down After the Surrender.

No French victory was ever marked by such unbridled license as that which the victorious troops practiced at Yapa. But what followed was worse, for the prisoners of war were too numerous for the ordinary usage. For some days they were treated according to the terms of quarter they had exacted. On the 17th a council of war unanimously voted that the old rule under which no quarter is given to defenders in an assault should be applied to them. For three days Bonaparte hesitated, but on the 20th his decision was taken. A few Egyptians were sent home and the remainder of the prisoners, together with the 800 militia from El Arish, were marched to the beach and shot. In the report to the directory the number was put at 1,200. Two eyewitnesses estimated it—one at 3,000, the other at 4,000.

"I have been severe with those of your troops who violated the laws of war," wrote the author of the deed to Jezzar. No mention of the fact or excuse for it was made in any of his other correspondence at the time. All winter long he had been dealing as an oriental with orientals, and this was but a piece of the same conduct. The code of Christian morality was far from his mind. In January, for instance, he had ordered Murat to kill all the prisoners of a hostile tribe in the desert whom he could not bring away, and in the same month identical orders were issued to Berthier concerning another existing horde.

The plea which is made by the eulogists of Napoleon and by some recent military writers for this wholesale execution is that an on the one hand the men of the garrison of El Arish, which had surrendered, had been found again with arms in their hands; that they were deserving of death according to all the laws of war, and that, as to the rest, there were no French prisoners for whom to exchange them and no provisions to support them, consequently their presence with the army would jeopardize its success, and it was therefore justifiable to diminish the enemy's resisting power by their execution. Those who believe that war, whether just or unjust, justifies any barbarity which will lead to speedy victory will agree with that opinion.—Professor W. M. Sloane's "Life of Napoleon" in Century.

General Greely's Pin.

General Greely of arctic fame is as distinguished in the social circles where he is known as in the field of polar exploration. Brave and gallant, he is a great favorite in society, but it is doubtful if he has anywhere a more ardent admirer than one small maiden to whom he stands as a knight "sans reproche."

She was the host's daughter at an afternoon reception when General Greely was the lion of the occasion. The belles of the town were directing all their volleys of superlative and bewitching glances at the hero, who, however, ignored these attentions and asked to accompany the 12-year-old miss to the dining room. Delighted beyond measure at this unexpected attention, the child accepted and went proudly off, scarcely knowing whether the salad he brought her was chicken or sawdust. The crowning joy came, however, when, talking to her as she "had been Mrs. Cleveland," to quote her own words, her companion asked how many brothers and sisters she had.

She replied, "One brother and one sister, the boy between," and added, "Some persons call us a sandwich, but I think that is rather hard on us girls, because everybody likes meat so much better than bread."

"Ah, my dear," said the general, with a bow, "not when it is so well bread."

When Tears Are Dangerous.

M. S. Gregory, sheriff of Amador, was telling some friends the other evening about a plucky deputy and wound up by saying: "When you find a man as cool and steady as a rock in the face of danger, you can bet on him. But the most dangerous men are those who laugh or cry when they have a dispute on hand. I knew a man named Drow, down in Texas, who was noted as a very bad man. When he was doing any shooting, he would laugh loudly—a hard, demoniacal laugh, without any merriment in it. Up at Indian Diggings, many years ago, two men named Archer and Pawsan had a dispute with a German about a claim. When they claimed the property, he broke down and cried, and they, supposing they would have no trouble in taking possession, marched on the ground. The German took up a broken pick and laid them both out. Archer was badly hurt and was a long time getting over his injuries. After that whenever he saw a man start to cry he got out of the way."—San Francisco Call.

He Could.

A well known and busy actress has a little daughter who is a precocious young pagan, and the other night, as the nurse was away, she was put to bed by a friend of her mother's.

"Do you not say your prayers, dear?" "No!" responded the infantile hothead. "I don't know any, and mamma is always away when I go to bed."

"Perhaps you would like to learn a prayer," suggested she of the missionary tendencies. "Do you think you could?"

"Could I learn a prayer?" repeated the younger in derisive tones. "I should say I could. I'm very quick study."—New York Mercury.

A Proverb Revised.

We are frequently reminded of the untidiness of looking the barn door after the horse is stolen, but we are now told of a case where a man's stable has been stolen. The adage might be revised, however, to read: "Don't put your horse in his stall after your stable is stolen."—Boston Transcript.

IN THE RUINS OF POMPEII.

Evidences of the Commonness of Slavery Found on All Sides.

Evidences of the commonness of slavery in the time of Pompeii's destruction are abundant on all sides. The gladiators were a class of slaves trained for fighting, and some of the wall scribbles refer to their condition as one of slavery. Here is the translation of an advertisement painted on a wall near the amphitheater:

"Twenty pairs of gladiators, paid by Decimus Lucretius Silius Valens, prince in the time of Nero, the son of Caesar Augustus, and ten pairs of gladiators, paid by Decimus Lucretius, the son of Decimus Valens, will fight at Pompeii on the 11th, 18th and 14th of April."

"There will be a proper hunting scene and the awnings will be spread. Written by Clev-Emilius Clev, writer of inscriptions; wrote this by moonlight."

The gladiators' barracks were ample for the housing of 2,000 or 3,000 men, and it is a matter of record that at least 2,000 were engaged at one time in the life or death combats which stretched over a long festival. The actors in these murderous sports were "barbarians" from various parts of Europe or from Asia Minor and Africa.

In the Naples museum is a bronze collar which was worn about the neck of a man whose skeleton was found in a Pompeian house cellar; on the collar is engraved, in Latin, these words: "I am a slave. Arrest me because I am running away." I could not help thinking while looking at this ingenious and cruel substitute for a convict's dress that it was possible that the poor wretch who wore it may have been one of the descendants of the blond haired Britons brought home by Julius Caesar to grace his triumph 100 years before Pompeii disappeared beneath its pall of lava and ashes.

In the Gheezeh museum, Cairo, one may look upon the black and shriveled face of that Rameses whom we know as the Pharaoh of the Oppression. Mummies of other Egyptian kings, priests and people are common enough. These primeval men, who far antedated Pompeii and Rome, stand undecayed in our presence. But Pompeii presents the picture of an entire city resurrected from the dead, with all its appliances of life and means of pleasure, profit, comfort, luxury, vice and sustenance. The life is gone out forever, but the mummified city remains—a monument of human ingenuity and human frailty.—New York Times.

Caseneuve's Rival.

Although the French courts are conducted with more ceremony than our own, they are occasionally enlivened by amusing incidents.

Maitre Caseneuve, a famous advocate of Toulouse, now dead, had a pet dog, of which he was very fond. One day he ventured to take this dog, which was small, and named Azor, into court with him. He seated Azor at one end of the bench assigned to the counsel and began an argument.

Maitre Caseneuve had a high pitched voice, and as he warmed up with his plea he raised it to a loud tone. Azor could stand it no longer. He stood up on the bench and howled—wow! wow! wow!

Maitre Caseneuve moderated his voice and cuffed the dog "aside," whereupon Azor subsided into silence. The lawyer argued on, and by, and by, forgetting himself in his earnestness, raised his voice once more to a high pitch and a loud tone.

"Wow! wow! wow!" howled the little dog once more.

This time the lawyer stopped short, turned to the dog and eyed him severely. "See here, Azor," he said aloud, "this can't go on. If you are arguing this case, you'd better do it alone, but if I am then you've got to keep still!"

After that Azor held his peace.—Youth's Companion.

The Bible.

The Bible contains 3,566,480 letters, 810,697 words, 31,175 verses, 1,189 chapters and 66 books; longest chapter is the 119th Psalm; the shortest and middle chapter is the 117th Psalm; the middle verse is the eighth of the 118th Psalm. The longest name is in the eighth chapter of Isaiah. The word "and" occurs 46,627 times. The thirty-seventh chapter of Isaiah and the nineteenth chapter of the second book of Kings are alike. The longest verse is the ninth of the eighth chapter of Esther; the shortest the thirty-fifth of the eleventh chapter of John. The twenty-first verse of the seventh chapter of Ezra is the only one of the entire collection which contains every letter in the alphabet. The word "Lord," or its equivalent, "Jehovah," occurs 7,698 times in the Old Testament, or, to be more exact, the word "Lord" occurs 1,853 times and the word "Jehovah" 5,845 times. The word "God" does not occur in the book of Esther.—St. Louis Republic.

The Color in Irish Verse.

Of course there is no deficiency of local color in such a book. We hear much of the "Suggarth arcon," the "Tubber-na-Scoreney," the "Cushla Macree" and other things pre-eminently Irish. Now, the "Suggarth arcon" is a capital fact, especially when served with "sauc Hollandaise," and all the world knows that the "Tubber-na-Scoreney" is one of the most picturesque of ancient symbolic Irish customs. Still the merely Saxon reader, who is not familiar with the Irish language, is sometimes "maire bhan astorred" when he comes across a poem plentifully sprinkled with Irish expressions, with the exception, of course, of such a universally understood remark as "Begorra," or that touching phrase of endearment, "Faugh a ballagh."—W. L. Alden in Idler.

Plumbing and Drainage—Rules and Regulations.ORDINANCE NO. 11.

An ordinance regulating the plumbing and drainage of buildings in Berkeley, providing the manner in which and sewer for drainage shall be executed, the materials to be used therein, the registration and bonds of plumbers executing such plumbing work, the filing of plans and notice to be given and the obtaining of permits by plumbers and sewer men executing the same, and providing a penalty for the violation of said ordinance.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE BOARD OF Trustees of the Town of Berkeley as follows:

SECTION 1. All persons carrying on business or laboring as master or journeyman plumbers in the town shall register his name and address at the health office and notice of any change in the place of business of the registered plumber shall be immediately given to the health office.

Section 2. Every master plumber, before he shall register, shall give a bond in the favor of the town of Berkeley for the sum of five hundred dollars ($500) with two good and sufficient sureties, for the faithful performance of his duties as plumber, which said bond shall be approved by the President of the Board of Trustees of the Town of Berkeley, and filed with the Clerk of said town.

Section 3. The plumbing and drainage of all buildings and additions hereafter erected shall be executed in accordance with plans and specifications filed in the health office, and duly approved by the Sanitary Inspector, and it is hereby with specially set forth that every plumber must, before doing any work in any building or addition hereafter erected, file plans and specifications in said health office, correctly describing in detail, the work to be done.

Section 4. All new sewers and additions to sewers, shall be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications previously filed in the health office, correctly describing in detail the work to be done.

Section 5. All material must be of good quality and free from defects; all defective material shall be rejected, and the material to be put in its place, and the work must be executed in a thorough and workmanlike manner.

Section 6. The arrangement of all soil, vent, waste, and water pipes, and the traps thereon, shall be so arranged that the sewer pipes, when convenient, should be exposed to view for ready inspection at all times, and for convenience in repairs.

Section 7. When there is a sewer in the street, every house or building located on the lot abutting on said street, must be separately and independently connected with the sewer by means of a cast-iron pipe. When possible such connection must be made directly opposite the house. When there is no sewer in the street upon which property abuts, it is necessary to construct a private sewer for such property to connect with a sewer in another street, alley, or avenue; it must be laid in the street on which such property abuts, and not through the adjacent lots or under the houses on adjoining property.

Section 8. All joints on said iron-steel pipe shall be made with Portland cement, properly mixed with clean, sharp sand, the proportion thereof being one part cement, two parts sand. Each joint when laid, must be properly cleaned on the inside by a suitable scraper, before the succeeding pipe is placed. The sewer pipe must be laid at a uniform grade throughout its entire length and in as straight a line as possible. All changes in direction must be made with curved pipe, and not with "Y" branches and one-eighth or one-sixth bends. All joints on cast-iron pipes shall be made with a suitable packing of hemp or cotton, and run with moulten lead and properly caulked.

Section 9. When the lot upon which the building is erected, or the point to be sewered is not within one hundred and fifty (150) feet of the line of a street having a sewer therein, cesspools may be constructed of brick and cement, and to be in size not less than three feet. The top of said cesspool must be at least one foot below the surface of the ground, and properly ventilated. The bottom and sides of said cesspools to be made impervious to water, and closed at least every two weeks. Said cesspools must not be located within twenty feet of any part of any inhabited building, and house drains connecting therewith must be trapped and connected the same as house drains connecting with street sewers.

Section 10. All persons before connecting with, or opening, or penetrating any public sewer or drain, must first obtain a permit in writing from the Sanitary Inspector. Every person constructing sewers must report to the office of the health officer every new sewer in course of construction or addition to a sewer already laid. And when said sewer or addition is completed, he must fill the same with water for the purpose of testing it, where it lies within the building lines, and report to said officer when it is ready for inspection. No case shall the sewer be covered at any point, either within or without the building lines, until after the same has been inspected and accepted by the Inspector.

Section 11. Every house or building hereafter erected, must have the house drain constructed of cast-iron, where it lies under the building, and extend beyond said building, or foundation walls not less than one foot, when the house drain is outside the building lines, it may be of iron-steel pipe. The house drain must have a fall of at least one-fourth of an inch to the foot, it must be built with a wall, where practicable, or if laid under the lower floor of the building, shall be hung in iron straps securely fastened to the floor joists, and in as straight a line as possible. Heavy brass clean-outs with air tight screw joints must be placed at the end of each horizontal line of cast-iron sewer pipes. All changes in direction must be made with curved pipe, and not with "Y" branches and one-eighth or one-sixth bends, with a trap placed under the sidewalk. The trap must be provided with a fresh air inlet on the house side, the seal of the trap must be at least four inches in diameter, leading to the outer air. It shall be the duty of the sewer contractor to provide a suitable box for protecting the fresh air inlet of the trap, when a basement stone pipe is used. When cast-iron pipe is used, the plumber shall provide a suitable covering. No brick, sheet metal, or earthenware pipe shall be used for this purpose. All horizontal lines of pipe must have "Y" branches and clean-outs with air tight screw joints, no tees of any kind allowed in horizontal pipes, and only sanitary tees allowed in vertical pipes.

Section 12. Every soil pipe shall be of cast-iron (or lead not less than five pounds to the foot). All cast-iron soil or waste pipes shall be properly fastened and secured with heavy wrought iron straps or bolts. If bolts are used, they shall be forged out of one piece of iron, not welded. Waste pipe must be of cast-iron, not lead. Every line of waste pipes leading to water closets above the first floor must extend full bore, one foot above the roof or fire wall. Every line of waste pipe on or above second floor, where more than one fixture branches into same, must run full bore one foot above the roof or fire wall. All waste pipes in basement and first floor to be vented same size of pipe as trap of fixture. No vent pipe shall open less than two feet above the top of any window or door on the side or roof of the house where said vent pipe is placed.

Section 13. Cast-iron pipes or fittings must be either undipped or coated both inside and outside with coal tar pitch, applied hot.

Section 14. All soil or waste pipes outside of building must have all openings stopped and be filled with water to the highest fixture and allowed to stand until inspected and approved. All connections of lead pipe must be wiped joints. When lead waste pipes is used, it must be of one piece, and as given by the following: "Y" one-sixteenth, one-eighth, or one-eighth bends.

Section 15. Every sink, basin, bathtub, water closet, slop-hopper, and each set of wash-trays, and every fixture having a waste pipe, must be separately and effectively trapped, the trap to be placed as near the fixture as is practicable. All traps must be protected from siphonage. All traps must be of cast-iron, galvanized wrought iron, or lead, and be used in size not less than the traps which they vent; and those used to supply air to traps of one or more fixtures, shall be of the same material or on the first floor of building, not less than two inches in diameter. When a bath-tub, basin, sink, or set of wash-trays is set on the same floor level with a hopper, and not more than three feet horizontally from said hopper, the traps of said bath, basin, sink, or wash-trays need not be vented. Vent pipes must extend to the roof above the fire wall. The air pipes of two or more water closets when used as a back vent may be united one foot above the highest fixture, provided said air pipes are not less than two inches in diameter. When branch venting is done, the connection must be made not less than one foot above the top of the fixture, where such connection is made. All air pipes must have a continuous slope to avoid collecting water by condensation. When the trap of any fixture is set more than two feet from the vertical line of pipe, a return connection must in all cases be provided. All water-closets and slop-hoppers on the ground floor, detached from building, need not have vent pipes. Every safe under a basin, bath, tub, sink, water-closet, toilet, or other fixture, must be fitted with a special pipe of lead or wrought iron, not connected with any soil, waste pipe, drain, or sewer, but must discharge outside of the house.

Section 16. All water-closets within a building must be supplied from separate tanks or cisterns, the water of which shall be used for no other purpose. A group of water-closets may be supplied from a tank, but water-closets on different floors shall not be supplied from one tank. Slop-hoppers, when used in yards or porches shall be supplied by valves of a bore equal to the diameter of the water-closet pipe. In no case be less than one and one-fourth inches inside diameter. No rubber connection will be allowed between water-closet and vent pipes. No interior wall shall be set in putty, plaster, or similar substance; they must be connected to soil pipe with a properly constructed rubber gasket and brass flange combination. Fan-hopper and plug water-closets are strictly prohibited. When water-closets are constructed that the trap is part of the closet, they must be all earthenware or enameled iron, or a combination of these materials. All water-closet receivers must be of either earthenware or enameled iron. Water-closets or urinals must not be placed in an unventilated room or compartment, must have a proper opening to the outside air, and must be supplied with a vent pipe. No wooden sinks or wash-trays will be allowed inside of any residence or tenement which is used as a dwelling.

Section 17. Rain water leaders must never be used as soil, waste, or vent pipes, nor shall any soil, waste, or vent pipes be used as a rain water leader. All rain water leaders or cisterns inside of building must be either galvanized wrought iron or cast iron. All leaders must discharge on the surface of the ground. Slop-hoppers set upon a wooden floor, must be connected to waste pipe with lead wiped into a brass ferrule and the same to be caulked. All slop-hoppers shall be provided with a suitable trap of not less than two inches in diameter. All waste pipes from sleeping apartments must discharge into open trapped hoppers outside of the building, except where a building covers the entire width of the lot.

Section 18. No steam exhaust will be allowed to connect with any drain, soil, vent, or waste pipe.

Section 19. All leaders, soil, waste, drain, and vent pipes inside of buildings, before being covered, must have all openings stopped and be filled with water, for the purpose of testing the same. The test must be made in the presence of the Inspector, and if satisfactory, he shall issue the proper certificate, but if the test be not satisfactory, he must withhold the certificate until the test is made and all openings of buildings must require of the contractor a certificate of good sanitary plumbing and drainage in all cases where such work is being done. Upon the completion of the plumbing work, the plumber must report to the Inspector for final inspection. The said certificate to be signed by the Inspector, provided by law. He must not sign and deliver the same except as hereinbefore provided.

Section 20. All plans and descriptions of plumbing and drainage must be made upon blanks furnished by the Health Officer.

Section 21. Every building shall be provided in the sewer pipe of any building for the purpose of receiving the surface drainage of the cellar, unless special permission is granted by the Health Officer. The said drainage pipe must be immediately and permanently closed when directed by said Inspector. When a building is moved from one part of the city to another, or when an additional building is added, or any sewer in connection therewith (except in case of repairs, and repairs are defined to consist of leaks in drain, soil, waste and vent pipes, and repairs on rulers, valves, and water supply pipes), the new plumbing regulations of this ordinance must be followed.

Section 22. When a building has been inspected and condemned by the Health Officer, the owner of the building is hereby declared to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $50. The judgment imposing such fine may be enforced by imprisonment in the County Jail of Alameda county, till such fine be paid at the rate in the manner and for the time provided by law.

Section 23. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its final passage.

Section 24. This ordinance is hereby ordered printed and published for two (2) days, with the Ayes and Nays, in the Berkeley Gazette, which newspaper is hereby designated for that purpose.

Section 25. All plumbing and drainage work in the Town of Berkeley shall be done in accordance with this ordinance, and no person shall do any plumbing or drainage work in said town except in accordance with this ordinance.

Section 26. Every person violating any provision of this ordinance is hereby declared to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine not to exceed $50. The judgment imposing such fine may be enforced by imprisonment in the County Jail of Alameda county, till such fine be paid at the rate in the manner and for the time provided by law.

Section 27. This ordinance shall take effect from and after its final passage.

Section 28. This ordinance is hereby ordered printed and published for two (2) days, with the Ayes and Nays, in the Berkeley Gazette, which newspaper is hereby designated for that purpose.

Adopted and ordered printed and published as above for the following reasons: Ayes: Trustees Gage, Cripps, Martin, Hoff and President, pro tem, Richards. Nays: None. Absent, Trustee Durrell and President Rickard.

Attest: M. L. HANSBOM, Town Clerk.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION OF DISCHARGE.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE County of Alameda, State of California.

In the matter of George M. Gropp, an insolvent debtor.

Notice is hereby given to all the creditors of George M. Gropp, the above-named insolvent, who have proved their debts, that said insolvent has this day applied to this Court for a discharge from the said debts, and that the 5th day of August, A. D. 1895, at 10 o'clock, A. M., at the Court-Room of said Court, at Oakland, in the County of Alameda, has been fixed as the time and place for said creditors to appear and show cause, if any they have, why said insolvent's application should not be granted, and he be discharged from all his debts, in accordance with the Statutes in such cases made and provided.

Witness my hand and the Seal of said Court this 23rd day of June, 1895.
